

Perfect Piglet is coming to Visit!

The animals at Kindifarm are getting ready to visit some very special children. Perfect Piglet has just had a bath and is all clean and ready to go.

But it's too hot outside! Perfect Piglet feels like she's melting! She's worried she'll get sunburnt, too. What can she do?

Could she use the fridge?

Perfect Piglet sticks her head inside the fridge, letting the air inside cool her down. 'Close the fridge,' calls Woolly Lamb, 'you'll make my milk go off! The farmer is bringing it so the children can feed me, and I'm very hungry.'

Maybe it's cooler in the shade...

Perfect Piglet runs into the barn to try and cool down, and bumps into Chirpy the Chick. 'It's lovely and warm in here, isn't it,' says Chirpy the Chick, 'just how I like it!' 'But I want to cool down!' says Perfect Piglet.

Maybe Perfect Piglet can use the tap...

Perfect Piglet puts her head under the tap, letting cold water splash over her. 'Turn off the tap!' Cuddly Calf shouts. 'I need that water for drinking! I drink 100 litres a day. That's a whole bath tub full!'

After all this running around, Perfect Piglet is feeling even hotter! What can she do?

Perfect Piglet sees a big, big puddle of mud. Pigs all over the world like mud baths, because the mud is nice and cool, and protects them from sunburn. Perfect Piglet jumps in the mud, and she loves it! She isn't too hot anymore. And she won't get burnt!

But Perfect Piglet has forgotten something...

'Perfect Piglet, you're all dirty again!' says Velvet Rabbit. 'You can't go to visit the children if you're all covered in mud!'

Now Perfect Piglet feels silly. What if she misses out on visiting the children? She's been looking forward to it all week.

Perfect Piglet races back to have a bath with clean water. When she's all clean, the farmer puts some sunscreen on her, too.

Now Perfect Piglet is all ready to visit some children. Perfect Piglet is looking forward to having some fun when she comes to visit you!
